

---

My former Mistress, Miss Lizard

Posted by Coastie - 2007/11/10 00:55

---

Apple will remember this little story...

While I was living in the Philippines Leah and I shared a small little house off the river in Ormoc. Like in most homes in the Philippines we had our fair share of Lizards. This little Story is about one of these Lizards...

Our computer was setup in a corner of the bedroom. Every day when I was on the computer I noticed a Lizard would come down the wall and sit face level with me. This lizard would sit there as it was sitting there day dreaming of a relationship that would never be.

Not only would she visit me at the computer. If I went and took a nap, she would cross the room to the side of the bed. If another Lizard came in she would chase it away, for I was her prize, not anyone else.

One day while sitting at the computer, she surprised me and jumped on my leg. I really was surprised that I slapped it off my leg on to the floor. dang I upset her... 2 days later I was walking into the Kitchen to wash out my mug. As I was passing our table, Here she comes jumping out of my Mug...

She did not come back to visit for a period of time. Then one day here she came, with Baby Lizard in tow. Now get your mind out of the gutter, It not my baby...

---

Re:My former Mistress, Miss Lizard

Posted by Excited! - 2007/11/10 17:14

---

So, is that why all those lizards were in my bedroom when I was in the Phils. Hmmmm.... :S

---

Re:My former Mistress, Miss Lizard

Posted by Coastie - 2007/11/10 17:34

---

Excited! wrote:

So, is that why all those lizards were in my bedroom when I was in the Phils. Hmmmm.... :S

Well my first trip I had Giekos showering with me till the cats caught it, and killed it.

---

Re:My former Mistress, Miss Lizard

Posted by applebite - 2007/11/11 11:13

---

" HILARIOUS"

Coastie!

Yes. I red this and followed the story Coastie.

I have no idea at first whom you are referring to. hehehe.:laugh:

Apple

---

Re:My former Mistress, Miss Lizard

Posted by applebite - 2007/11/11 11:15

---

Excited! wrote:

So, is that why all those lizards were in my bedroom when I was in the Phils. Hmmmm.... :S

---

Ummmmm,,, another mistress?

EXCITED:

This lizrads are kissing the ground every 6 PM.
Old folks says they were praying... have an idea?

---

=====

Re:My former Mistress, Miss Lizard

Posted by Excited! - 2007/11/11 15:09

---

applebite wrote:

This lizrads are kissing the ground every 6 PM.
Old folks says they were praying... have an idea?

Maybe their act is to remind us of "From dust thou art, to dust you'll return." :(

---

=====

Re:My former Mistress, Miss Lizard

Posted by applebite - 2007/11/11 22:45

---

Excited! wrote:

applebite wrote:

This lizrads are kissing the ground every 6 PM.
Old folks says they were praying... have an idea?

Maybe their act is to remind us of "From dust thou art, to dust you'll return." :(

It can also be true.

---

=====

Re:My former Mistress, Miss Lizard

Posted by Coastie - 2007/11/11 22:52

---

When I first went there to live we had an over priced Apartment. Due to the high rent for the apartment, and lack of sleep due to the events at the church down the street, we moved to the House where Leah is now living, and location of my Mistress. Right after we moved it, I was standing in the living room, and felt something hit my Toe. Guess who? A Lizard bounced off my foot running across the floor.

---

=====

Re:My former Mistress, Miss Lizard

Posted by Coastie - 2007/11/25 02:19

---

UPDATE on my Mistress the Lizard:

Today while chatting with Leah, I asked her about the Lizard that always came to visit me, my Mistress.

She said after I left so did she, she has not seen it since I left.

So did it have some sort of a Love affair with me? It looks that way to me, and Leah also thinks that too, or it just likes White Guys as she puts it. Is it possible for a Reptile like a Lizard to have emotions for a human? Or was it I attract more Mosquitoes so the lizard hung around for more dinner?

---

Re:My former Mistress, Miss Lizard

Posted by applebite - 2007/11/25 02:33

---

Coastie wrote:

UPDATE on my Mistress the Lizard:

Today while chatting with Leah, I asked her about the Lizard that always came to visit me, my Mistress.

She said after I left so did she, she has not seen it since I left.

So did it have some sort of a Love affair with me? It looks that way to me, and Leah also thinks that too, or it just likes White Guys as she puts it. Is it possible for a Reptile like a Lizard to have emotions for a human? Or was it I attract more Mosquitoes so the lizard hung around for more dinner?

Yes I think you attract more mosquitos and your Lizzie just love it!

Kidding aside... I think reptiles like animals could show affection. well I do not have any basis on that but I just feel they could also show gratitude and affection to the people around them especially when those people are giving them a special attention and time too. I should say instinct!

=====

---

Re:My former Mistress, Miss Lizard

Posted by Excited! - 2007/11/27 06:08

---

Man, and I thought they loved me! Goes to show that the way to the heart is through the belly. Did I say that right? hehehe

=====

---

Re:My former Mistress, Miss Lizard

Posted by applebite - 2009/09/24 18:17

---

I am wondering where are those Lizzies?

Last night. I was staring at the cieling.. notice why Lizzie does not come. The cieling is concrete. they don't climb up there.

Just like Mr. Coastie who introduce us Missie Lizzie. he does not come around too.

I don't see him online. not lately.

=====